

PARTNER WITH RETINA UK

Retina UK, located in Buckingham, is a national charity dedicated to supporting people with inherited progressive sight loss.

What do we do?

At Retina UK we are committed to helping people with inherited sight loss live well today. We offer tailored support services, including our peer groups, outreach with young people and parents, our helpline, Discover Wellbeing resource, and our talk and support befriending service. These are all designed to build confidence, tackle isolation, create connections and uplift people.

We also fund pioneering and promising medical research to accelerate the search for treatments. In 2025 we are fundraising for cutting-edge projects at King's College London, UCL Institute of Ophthalmology, and Edinburgh University.

Why partner with us?

- Make a direct impact on the lives of people with inherited sight loss.
- Drive forward cutting-edge research that will move us closer to finding treatments.
- Create a lasting positive legacy of support.
- Boost your brand's CSR and enhance team building and communication.
- Provide rewarding volunteering opportunities for your team.

Perm's story

"I was diagnosed with inherited sight loss after a six month journey trying to find answers. I was in shock and it was a devastating blow when my drivers' license was revoked, which impacted my independence. I reached rock bottom and faced severe depression. I knew I needed help so I rang the Retina UK Helpline, and joined a peer group. Through that I formed connections which gave me confidence, reassurance, understanding and hope. I felt empowered, and lifted by the conversations and laughter in the peer group. I now run a peer group, which I really enjoy."

A corporate perspective

"The team at Retina UK are great. I have worked closely with them as an organisation for over five years supporting the inherited sight loss community. I have always found the team to be professional, fast responding, and informed."
